Students Speak On Citizenship From Best Essay

Second phase of the Rotary Club "Good Citizen" contest is a speech competition SAC students are preparing for this week. Participants will base their ten-minute talks on "A Definition of a Good Citizen" by William J. Heacox, winner of the Rotary-sponsored essay contest.

On May 18 the college speak-off will be held in Phillips Hall, and finalists are slated to speak for the downtown Rotary May 23. $125 will be awarded the winning speaker.

Here is the essay contestants will use as a basis for their speeches:

"A Definition of a Good Citizen"
Embracing the definition of "Good Citizen" is the girdle of interest and service, not of restraint, but of self-control and commitment. Good citizenship involves a head-on collision with forces counter to these three spheres of citizenry, the HOME, the COMMUNITY, and the CHURCH—a continuing warfare against the cancer of "do-nothing" and the menace of dynamic tyranny.

The home, to the good citizen, is the pulse beat of the nation. He puts into the home the contributions of parental respect and fulfills the stringencies of the "first commendment with a promise." He is an integral, actively functioning part of this institution as prerequisite to efficient status within the community. As the home is perfected by his contribution and participation, so his position in the community becomes more real and effective.

Voting, the active citizen voices his selection of the officials to lead and the measures to control his government. He readily assumes responsibility and contributes his time, energies and money to build and develop his community and a greater nation. He supports the educational system, seeks knowledge, and, through education, is enabled both to detect the usurpation of moral goodness and liberties and to formulate the routes of societal goals and successes.

The good citizen is led by faith and a commitment to sacred obligations which enable the pursuit of righteousness and the acceptance of the challenge of a righteous nation before God.

Only as the individual functions effectively within these spheres to heal the cancer of "do-nothing" through the copious application of the balsams of INTEREST and ACTION shall he be worthy of the title, "GOOD CITIZEN."

Today Is Deadline To Drop Classes

Students planning to withdraw from classes with a "W" grade are reminded to do so today in the Administration office.

In classes where students are receiving an "F" grade, a withdrawal would insure a "WF" credit on their transcript.

Withdrawals after today, which completes the 15th week of the spring semester, will result in a final "F" grade in classes attempted.

Science Instructor Accepts Invitation

Delmer Mangrum, SAC science instructor, has accepted an invitation to participate in a National Science Foundation Institute in marine biology this summer.

This marks Mangrum's second year at Santa Ana College as zoology and life science instructor. He formerly taught at Long Beach State College, where he received his teaching degrees.

Mangrum will study at Pacific Grove, California in a project sponsored by Stanford University.

Spurgeon to Speak as Dons Honor 29 Males

The ten most outstanding men students on campus will be honored at the third annual Men of the Year Banquet Wednesday night, May 17, at the Cape Cod House in Garden Grove.

The announcement will be made at the banquet.

Banquet Speaker

Ignorance Cause Of Art Distaste Says Speaker

The person who views modern art with distaste is usually one who knows nothing about it, or just doesn't take the time to study the work. This is the consensus of a talk given by Mrs. Elva Frederking, former SAC student, at the final meeting of the year held by the adult seminar at Kim's restaurant Tuesday noon.

"You don't have to approve of all modern art, but there are some sincere and truly great painters who turn out quality modern paintings," Mrs. Frederking said. She liked her concept of art to viewing an opera. The whole story is seen and nothing is left to the imagination of the spectator. A contemporary or realistic painting gives the same effect. It may be beautiful, but one can forget it in a moment.

Mrs. Frederking prefers to listen to opera at home, so she can conjure her own pictures of the stage and settings. She paints modern designs, which enable the viewer to form his own ideas of what is pictured.

Following a question and answer period, the near capacity audience thanked faculty adviser John G. Schmitz for his efforts in obtaining speakers throughout the season.

SAC Council Votes To Rescind Motion

At this week's council meeting a startling bit of parliamentary procedure was used to rescind the controversial motion concerning honorary student body cards.

Bill Thomas, Sophomore President, introduced this motion, "I move that the motion passed on April 25 concerning the honorary student body cards be rescinded on the grounds that it violates the by-laws of the ASB Constitution, besides being unethical."

Thomas based his arguments on the fact that the by-laws state

Top AS Officers To Be Elected

Santa Ana College students will go to the polls next Wednesday to elect student body, AWS, AMS, and class officers and to ratify the newly revised Associated Student Constitution.

Complete election information on candidates, their qualifications, and their reasons for running for office may be found on page three of this El Don election issue.

Revised Again

The AS constitution, which was last revised as recently as last year, has several major changes currently proposed:

The office of Commissioner of Assemblies and Rallies will be divided into two separate offices, one Commissioner of Assemblies and the other Commissioner of Rallies.

The office of Commissioner of Athletics has been added to the student council. This takes the responsibility for intra-mural athletics away from the AMS president.

New Office

Duties of the rallies commissioner will be to plan and arrange for all pep rallies with the aid of the pep squad and to be chairman of the rallies committee.

The athletics commissioner will be in charge of the intra-mural program, arrange for all sports banquets and programs with the aid of the director of the SAC Sports News Service, and will be in charge of general promotion of SAC sports activities.

To retain the same number of seats on the council and yet add the two new commissioners the number of freshman and sophomore representatives has been cut from three to two each respectively.

Other Changes

Other constitutional changes include the stipulation that candidates for AS secretary must have had previous secretarial training and have a written recommendation from the dean's secretary.

The newly revised constitution is available for reading at various campus bulletin boards. There are also other minor changes.

Important Election

Twenty eight office seekers plus a revised ASB Constitution will be at the mercy of student opinion in next Wednesday's election.

The importance of this election need not be stressed. El Don has devoted a full page to presenting the background and platform of all candidates. It has also outlined the major constitution changes. This, coupled with speeches from the candidates on two occasions—at the Inter-Club Council meeting and at yesterday's assembly—should provide the blueprint for an intelligent vote.

The candidates themselves have spent weeks of planning and campaigning. They deserve the support of a large turnout at the polls.

Also the constitutional change committee headed by Joan Litrich has been on the job for months in an effort to plug some of the holes which opened up this year. The suggestions of the committee are definitely a step forward toward a workable governing document.

It is the duty of all student body card holders to weigh the qualifications of the candidates, read and evaluate the alterations in the constitution, and then VOTE.

BARB'S WIRE

Connoisseur of Countries Learns Through Travel

By Barbara Berman

(Editor's Note: This is the fourteenth in a series of articles spotlighting campus personalities.)

"In spite of the taxes, I'll take California for my home anytime," maintains one of Santa Ana College's most traveled faculty members.

Miss Alice Smith, SAC secretarial department instructor, may be considered a connoisseur of countries having been a visitor to France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Mexico, and Hawaii.

"And to top off my travels, I lived in Japan for 12 months while serving as a civilian instructor for the army."

But her traveling diary isn't completed.

This summer she is planning an extensive trip to the Eastern Mediterranean with visits being arranged for Greece, Turkey, Syria, Jordan, Egypt, Spain and Portugal.

"I'll especially be glad to reach Greece so that I can visit my little adopted boy, Sideras, whom I have been supporting through the Foster Parent, Inc. plan," Miss Smith smiled.

It all seems a rewarding excursion for her many years of service to Santa Ana College.

"I came to Santa Ana College in 1938 when the campus was located on Main Street and now in 1961 I'm retiring from the teaching field leaving behind many wonderful friends and memories that I have found through the years," Miss Smith reminisced.

Retirement for Miss Smith will give her a chance to enjoy her beach home, do "my favorite entertaining," and devote time to many civic groups to which she belongs.

And it will give her a chance to stay home and enjoy the many Oriental arts and crafts which she has collected through her travels.

But for the present, the popular instructor is busy conferring with her travel agent regarding sailing arrangements.

"You see I'll be cruising on a Greek passenger boat, this giving me a chance to acquaint myself with the customs and people I'll be encountering during the summer," Miss Smith explained.

This summarizes her philosophy of traveling... a chance to meet people and gain so many new interests.

Perhaps, next year Miss Smith will return to the SAC campus as a most welcome visitor and relate her many summer experiences in the far Eastern Mediterranean countries.

'Matchmaker' Stars Score at First-Night Performance

By Robert Teuscher

"The Matchmaker" pleased many a funny bone and aesthetic eye last night as Phillips Hall echoed with laughter and applause long after the final curtain.

Mary Sullivan gave the stage a magnificent light in each of the four acts with her tremendous portrayal of Mrs. Levi as the sagacious, clever, conniving woman-after-a-man. The man was Horace Vandergelder, who can be flattered into anything — even marriage — portrayed admirably by Don Forney.

Warren Glaspey, his over-aged apprentice, Malachi, tickled the audience as the hilarious vagrant, who practices one vice at a time. Bill Peters and Wylie Aitken play the convincing roles of Vandergelder's two clerks who had never had a day off or been kissed.

Act II introduced Sylvia Branum who showed what a few lines with practiced action can do in her delightful portrayal of Minnie Fay. Mrs. Malloy, her employer, by Corrine Farley had a spirit for adventure and a desire for a husband and does some fine acting as she guides Minnie Fay on their first real adventure.

Mona Haworth was excellent as Miss Van Huessen, the absent-minded friend of all young lovers; especially, Jeri Ries, Mr. Vandergelder's ward, who created an interesting character as the bride-to-be of John Payne who proved his ability as a lover — with no tact — in the character of Ambrose Kemper.

Others who add to the merriment are: Tom Williams, Judy Mayes, Bill Sims, Dennis Toigo, Paul Gracy and Jeannine Durante.

Aside from the actors making the show a success, admiration has to be expressed for the beautiful costumes which even surpass the excellence of the Elizabethan costumes made for "Dark Lady of the Sonnets."

Although little is usually said for the technical aspects of a play, "The Matchmaker" proved the importance of good technicians. John Glaspey, stage manager, deserves a special hand for a job well done; as well as Lee Ford, director and costume designer, and Robert Blaustone set director.

Tickets for the remaining two performances, which will close this year's productions, can be obtained by calling KI 2-7226 or at the book store.

Hats Off to Council

Just as we opposed the student council's motion which would grant honorary activity cards to its present members, so do we praise last Tuesday's action by the same council, rescinding its previous motion.

With only four of the 17 members voting against cancelling the motion which would "reward" this year's council for its service to the school, the student governing body restored much of its lost prestige.

Many of the members who had previously voted to give the honorary cards to themselves turned an abrupt about face when Sophomore President Bill Thomas pointed out that the action violated a section of the by-laws of the ASB Constitution, "besides being unethical."

Thus, the petition to have the council reconsider its action, which reportedly needed only about fifty more signatures, has now become unnecessary.

Again we congratulate the council for its recent action. To admit a mistake is often times painful.

Perhaps next year's council can make retroactive the new motion which begins the honorary card policy for 1961-62.

Campus Bulletin Boards Offer Interesting Reading

By Jim Fabian

Is there anything you need, want to dispose of, or desire to tell the world?

Simply jot your message down on a card, piece of notebook paper or what have you and put it up on the campus bulletin boards.

Located in the administration corridor, across from the student mail boxes, and in the Student Union the bulletin boards are currently serving many students and faculty members who desire to peddle their wares or solicit business.

Items for Sale

The majority of notices offer items for sale. Bikes, books, cars, a movie camera, typewriters, shoe skates, snow skis, a rifle, ski boat and trailer, furniture, dogs (just in time for Valentine's!), a conga drum, and even a monkey complete with cage were recently on the block.

Services for hire notices are sprinkled among the cards. The boards have offered the services of typists, piano teachers, tutoring in French and Spanish, and the making of trophies.

Notices of Interest

Under general announcements was found a notice inviting students to use the medical library at the Orange County General Hospital, providing the books are not taken out. A new magazine was being announced, one that is designed for writers who haven't been able to sell their efforts! There was also a reward being offered for a certain red, white, and blue sweater that was lost in a classroom a short time ago.

Another interesting feature of the boards are the "wanted" notices. Right now, someone needs a ride from Laguna to SAC, there is a need for an alto-sax man for a small combo, jewelry salesgirls, a baby sitter for two small boys during the summer months, a tape recorder, and girls 5' 2" to 5' 6" for some male student who needs help with his English homework!

Gloves for Sale

The most eye-catching notice of late was one done in red and black felt-pen, and reads as follows: "Save your adorable little hands for important things in life... handholding, money, engagement rings... Don't let formalin, scalpels, ratfur, frog entrails, or tail rot complicate your private life. Invest now in surgical gloves for those grisly lab projects... for instance 50 cents can collect you a pair of size seven gloves (purchased in passion in wrong size)."

Whatever you yearn for, or need to get rid of, or just want everyone to know about, put a notice of it on the SAC bulletin boards. You may not get quick results, but it fills the bill for free advertising service!

Copies of Tavern Post Still Available

Those who did not get their copy of the 1961 Tavern Post, or anyone who desires extra copies of the campus literary magazine, should see Miss Lota Blythe in B22, or Mr. Donald Minnick in B23.

Each Student Body card holder is entitled to one free copy. To non-card holders and those who desire additional copies, the price is fifty cents.

Bryant will compete in the shot put and discus events, while Ascher will try his hand in the discus. VanderKnyff, Wiley, Phillips and Jones will compete in the distance medley. Ross, VanderKnyff, Wiley and Jones will run the mile relay.

Next Saturday night the seven survivors of the Eastern Conference finals will travel to Santa Monica for the Southern California Preliminaries.

The mile relay team will compete in the preliminaries, while the qualifiers in the field events will wait until next Friday night for the finals.

Dons who will enter the Southern California Preliminaries will be Bryant, in the shot and discus, Ascher in the discus, Kent Soldan in the high jump, Bill O'Brien in the broad jump, Paul Thoryk in the pole vault, Ross, VanderKnyff, Wiley, and Jones in the mile relay.

Netters Claim Tourney Title

Larry Greene, Santa Ana's sole survivor of the Eastern Conference tennis meet, will compete in the Southern California Regional tennis tournament this week at Fullerton.

Greene captured the conference singles championship as he downed defending champion Stan Kula from Fullerton. The former National Junior Champion dropped Kula, 6-1, 6-3.

The top junior college players will be entered in the Regionals meet, according to coach Russ Chelsey.

Linkers Take Second Crown

Santa Ana makes a return trip to the California State Golf Tournament, as the Dons romped over the rest of the Eastern Conference linkers for their second straight EC golf title.

The Dons finished first in the annual Eastern Conference Golf Tournament Monday afternoon to earn the conference Championship. Santa Ana placed four linkers in the top six.

Rate High

Coach Arlin Pirtle and his golfers will be heavily rated to finish the state Tournament high in the standings. The trip is the second in two years for the Dons, as they entered last year and captured fourth place.

In the annual tournament, held this year at Mesa Verde Golf Course, the Santa Ana crew battled to a slim, five stroke lead at the end of the first round of action.

However in the second round, the Dons took command of the meet and finished in front, 23 strokes below their nearest competitor, Mt. San Antonio.

Santa Ana will send Walt Wilson, John McGlone, Ed Cleveland and Tom Newcomer to the State Tournament to be held at Pleasanton Golf Course at San Diablo College.

Wilson Low

Wilson was the low man for the Dons in the conference tourney as he shot the 36 hole course for a 152 average. Newcomer finished sixth with a 156 score.

Wilson and McGlone finished one-two in the last round of action to lead the Santa Ana attack.

Also entered in the State Tournament from the Eastern Conference will be Mt. San Antonio and Orange Coast in the team competition.

Don Nine Aims At Hornet Team After Pirate Defeat

Santa Ana takes aim at the Fullerton Hornets today as they set out to move one step up the Eastern Conference baseball ladder.

The Dons, who were on their way up after surprising leading Riverside, were knocked back down into seventh place Tuesday by Orange Coast, 10-2.

Dry Spell Strikes

Santa Ana suffered a dry spell at the hands of the Pirates Tuesday afternoon as they were only able to pick up four hits. Chuck Lauritson, Orange Coast pitcher, dazzled the Dons as he sent 12 SAC batters away from the plate shaking their head.

Coach Roger Wilson's crew managed to push across two runs in the fourth inning to avoid a shut out. The Dons hit the scoreboard when Brian and Terry Tewell scored after a walk, a single and two OCC errors.

Brian Tewell Shines

Brian Tewell was the leading hitter for Santa Ana against their cross-county rivals as he picked up one hit in three trips to the plate. Other Don stickmen who collected a hit Tuesday afternoon were outfielder Danny Valenzuela, All-Conference third baseman Bernie Young and infielder Dave Casey.

Dons Try Again

The Dons will try for a change of luck against the Orange Coast squad Saturday afternoon on the Pirate field. The two teams will make up a 5-5 tie which resulted in the first round of conference

Kreager to Hurl

Coach Wilson will probably send Dick Kreager out to the mound to match pitches against the Pirate bats. Orange Coast is defending champion in the conference race. The Pirates will be out to move up one more notch on the now leading San Bernardino club.

Bernie Young, making a strong bid for another position on the All-Conference team, is the leading hitter for the Dons with a .404 average. Casey is close behind with .353.
